Strategic Partnership Provides Green Roof Solutions

Carlisle SynTec Systems partners with Columbia Green Technologies

(Carlisle, Pa.) – May 29, 2015 – Carlisle SynTec Systems, a major manufacturer and supplier of premium roofing products, has formed a strategic partnership with Columbia Green Technologies, a leading supplier of roof garden components. This partnership provides customers with single-source, warranted solutions for the entire roof garden system.

“Carlisle is committed to providing comprehensive building envelope solutions that meet the unique challenges associated with sustainable design,” stated Michael DuCharme, Carlisle’s Director of Product Marketing. “Together, Carlisle and Columbia Green will provide expert design assistance, high-performance materials, and industry-leading warranties,” DuCharme continued.

Vanessa Keitges, President and CEO of Columbia Green Technologies, adds, “We are excited to partner with Carlisle. Columbia Green offers innovative green roof systems engineered for stormwater management and optimal plant health. Our partnership allows Carlisle to offer a single-source warranty that inspires confidence in the implementation of our systems.”

Roof gardens, also known as green roofs or vegetative roofs, provide numerous environmental benefits, including enhanced stormwater management, improved air and water quality, reduction of the urban heat island effect, and decreased energy usage.
