Sustainable Roofing and Waterproofing Alliance Celebrates Tenth Anniversary

(HERSHEY, Pa.) – October 27, 2017 – The Sustainable Roofing and Waterproofing Alliance (SRWA) celebrated its tenth anniversary at its annual Fall Conference held September 18-22, 2017, in Hershey, Pa. The 2017 Fall Conference drew a global audience who gathered to learn about sustainable building materials and practices through presentations, demonstrations, discussion, and collaboration.

The SRWA was established in 2007 as a small group whose aim was improving dialogue and information sharing between roof designers and manufacturers. Since then, the organization has grown into an international group of roofing and waterproofing professionals that includes architects, roofing and building envelope consultants, building owners, and manufacturers.

The 2017 SRWA Fall Conference drew more than 250 attendees, including guests from Austria, Belgium, Canada, China, Germany, Hong Kong, India, Japan, Lebanon, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, South Africa, South Korea, Switzerland, and the UK, as well as 29 US states.

During the event, SRWA presented some of its distinguished guests with awards recognizing their contributions to the roofing and waterproofing industries.
